

ANCIENT COINS

An Old Collection of Ancient Coins

This collection, consisting primarily of Roman coins, apparently dates from the late nineteenth to the early twentieth centuries, and is fresh to the market after almost one hundred years. Many of the coins possess that wonderful iridescent cabinet tone, characteristic of true old collections such as this. The quality is mixed, with a number of coins in high grade, and a good many more in middling condition. However, it should be noted that there are many rare and interesting issues included, some of which are scarcely seen nowadays. Particular attention is drawn to the group lots, where careful viewing is recommended.
