- 1265 Bahmanis of the Deccan, Firuz Shah (AH 800-825; 1397-1422 AD), Silver Tankas (8), Ahsanabad year 815, 817, 818, 819 (2), 821, 822, 823 (G&G BH63). Very fine to good very fine. (8) £150-180
- 1266 Sultans of Bengal/Dehli, Silver Tanka, joint issue of the Dehli Sultan Nasir al-din Mahmud (AH 644-664; AD 1246-1266) and the Bengal rebel ruler, Mughith al-din Yuzbak, Lakhnauti, year (65)1 (G&G B74). Very fine, weakly struck near the edge and with some red adhesion, very rare. £500-600

Yuzbak was a habitual rebel who had come to Bengal as governor for the Sultan of Dehli probably some time in the late 640s AH. He aimed to regain lands previously lost to the Gangas of Orissa but, after some initial success, found it necessary to appeal to Dehli for help. This issue may have been struck to demonstrate his loyalty to the Dehli throne. This loyalty did not last long, however, as for the next few years we find coins (all rare) struck in his own name alone.

While the silver Tankas of this ruler are common it is very difficult to find coins with enough of the margin visible to determine the date. This is because the engraving is relatively large and the coins are usually well centred.
- 1281 Sultans of Dehli, Jalal al-din Firuz (AH 689-695; 1290-1296 AD), Silver Tankas (5), Dehli, years 691, 692, 693, 694, 695 (G&G D197). Good fine to very fine. (5) £50-70

- 1288 Sultans of Dehli, Sher Shah Suri (945-952 AH), Gold contemporary jewellery coin piece produced by a non-official mint, interesting as it reads the mint name Kalpi (this coin has been listed as a genuine issue by Edward Thomas in his Chronicles of the Pathan Kings of Delhi on p.394, 341). Very fine and rare. £200-250

- 1290 Sultans of Dehli, Sikandar Shah Suri (AH 961?-962; AD 1554?-1555), Silver Rupee, (Lahore) (G&G D1150). Extremely fine, a little weak in one area and with one test mark, very rare in this condition. £300-400
- The last few years of Suri rule were a period of confusion and rebellion. Muhammad 'Adil's hold on the throne was tenuous. His cousins Ibrahim and Ahmad both had themselves enthroned in different parts of the Suri realms, the latter with the name Sikandar Shah. Coins were struck in silver and copper in the names of both these rebel rulers and they are all rare to very rare. The present coin is in very nice condition for this issue but unfortunately the date (961 or 962) is off the flan.
- 1291 Sultans of Malwa, Mahmud Shah I (AH 839-873; 1436-1469 AD), Gold Dinar, 12.8g, year 872 (G&G G75). Extremely fine and extremely rare – the only example known to the cataloguer. £5000-6000
- This coin, known at the time only from a rather poor photocopy, was published in G&G as a coin of Mahmud I, Sultan of Gujarat. The legend at the bottom of the reverse was read as (abu'l) fath. In fact it reads al-khalji demonstrating clearly that is an issue of the Malwa sultan. It would be a superb addition to any sultanate collection.
- 1292 Sultans of Malwa, Mahmud Shah I, Gold Tanka, Hadrat Shadiabad, AH 840?, 11.11g (G&G M21). Two small test-marks, good very fine and scarce. £280-320

- The extraordinary rarity of this coin is suggested by the historical events that mention the puppetry reign of the Prince Muhammad Akbar as lasting only for two days, 15th October 1788 to 17th October 1788. The Hijra year 1203 was the period of turmoil and change of Emperors. It saw the rule of Delhi changing from the hands of Shah Alam II to Bedar Bakht, from Bedar Bakht to Muhammad Akbar II and from Muhammad Akbar II to Shah Alam II again. The young Prince Akbar II was enthroned by the Rohilla chief Ghulam Qadir on 15th October 1788. Mirza Akbar Shah wrote to Nawab Faizullah Khan: "...on 14th Muharram (15th October) the imperial throne was illuminated by our august accession and the sound of the kettle-drum of felicitations reached the ears of the inhabitants of earth and the world above ... the face of gold and silver coins shone brighter than the sun and the moon by the effluence of the impression, of our name on them". This reign was very short lived when Ghulam Qadir ran away and Mahadji Scindhia captured Delhi to reinstate the blind emperor Shah Alam II to the throne on 17th October 1788.
- It is very interesting to note that the emperor has left us a written record of the fact that Khutba was read and coins were struck in both metals, gold and silver, (at least for two days 15th and 16th October 1788), and that both such coins have been discovered.

- 1712 Antioch, Raymond Roupen (1216-1219), Helmet Denier, class L/J mule, ✠RUPINVS, helmeted bust left, crescent in left field and star in right field, rev ✠A·ITIOCII·IA, cross with crescent in second quarter, 0.82g (see K Shea, NC 2005, pp.279-284). Edge split, otherwise about very fine and very rare. £100-120

It is not known for certain whether class J preceded class K or vice versa, and this mule appears to support the hypothesis that class K in fact preceded class J. The style of the lettering on the obverse is also noticeably different from other coins of Raymond Roupen, suggesting that the obverse die was used very early in his coinage.
