2260 Large and Small Certificates of Hero of the Soviet Union Colonel Dmitriev M.V.

Issued on March 21st 1940, for bravery during the Finnish War.

Large Certificate is of the early type with name of the Hero embossed in gold letters on the cover.

Small Certificate contains original photo of the recipient.

Tanks' mechanic-driver Sergeant Major Dmitriev (109th recon. Battalion, 86th Division, 7th Army) in the fight on Feb. 27th 1940, put his tank right in front of his comrades' tank, when they had a break-down, thus allowing them to repair the issue. While covering, Dmitriev's crew also managed to destroy several enemy gun nests.

Старший механик-водитель танка 109-го развед. батальона (86-я дивизия, 7-я армия), старшина Дмитриев в бою 27 февраля 1940г., когда один из танков потерпел аварию, загородил своей машиной товарищей от огня противника, тем самым дав им возможность устранить неисправность. При этом огнем орудия было подавлено несколько огневых точек врага.

Rifle Platoon Commander Jun. Lieutenant Fedko participated in the WWII since June 1941. As part of 32nd Independent Cavalry Artillery Squadron (14th Cavalry Division, 5th Cavalry Corps), he fought on Bryansk, Southwestern, Don, Voronezh, Central and 1st Ukrainian Front. From July 1942 to Feb. 1943 he was a prisoner of war in the camp at the city of Kastornie. Committed an escape and passed thru special verification. Commanded a Rifle Platoon until was seriously wounded in July of 1944 (that was his 4th and final wounding; he was transferred to the reserve after being checked out from the hospital).

Младший лейтенант Федько на начало войны находился в должности командира стрелковой роты, 32-го отдельного кавалерийского артиллерийского батальона (14-я кав. дивизия, 5-й кав. корпус). Участник боев на Брянском, Юго-Западном, Донском, Воронежском, Центральном и 1-м Украинском фронтах. Был захвачен в плен и находился в лагере для военнопленных под Касторным с июля 1942 по фев. 1943. Бежал и успешно прошел проверку НКВД, после чего был поставлен на ком. стрелковой роты. Успешно сражался вплоть до своего тяжелого ранения (4-го по счету), после чего был списан как не годный к службе. С 1944г. в запасе.

Large "мондвор" mintmark. Original silver nut.

This is a late 1930's „reissue“ award for type 1 „small“ Order of Badge of Honor, originally awarded in 1935. Since most of these Orders were awarded to civilians, it was rare for them to exchange their awards for later type. However, as rare as they all are, the screw back „reissues“ of Red Banner of Labor are a lot more common, when only a hand few of Badge of Honor „reissue“ screw back awards are known to date. Very rare.

2332 Order of the Badge of Honor. Type 2. Award # 7316.

Medium "мондвор" mintmark, serial number at 6 o'clock. Hallmarked „ГО". Original silver nut.

Awarded to deputy director of Dnepropetrovsk's Metallurgical Factory comrade Vasilenko S.E. on April 7, 1939.

Previously, comrade Vasilenko was awarded with Order of Red Banner of Labor #664 on April 27, 1935 (decree of March 23, 1935).

This is a very rare case - twice cavalier of the early type Orders, since even one such Order in the 1930's was already a very scarce occurrence, and commanded a lot of prestige and respect. Most of such prominent early multi-award veterans were purged during Stalin's Purges of 1937-1940.

Орденом Знак Почета 7316 награжден Василенко Семён Евгеньевич, главный инженер, зам. директора металлургического завода им. Ленина в Днепропетровске.

Орден вручен 7 апреля 1939г.

Ранее, Василенко Семён Евгеньевич (на то время начальник тонкостенного цеха завода им. Ленина в Днепропетровске) был награжден орденом Трудового Красного Знамени за номером 664 Постановлением ЦИК СССР от 23 марта 1935г. Орден вручен 27 апреля 1935г.
